

CALL OF THE SEA

#64

Kev Barnard, Paul Amer

Since I was a nipper and fed upon a kipper
I've always wished to go to sea.
There was nothing on land for what I had planned
But the sea could set me free.

Could set me free,
Set me free.
I've always wished to go to sea.

Watching boats set sail, hearing every mariner's tale,
I dreamt of adventure with glee.
So, at the age of thirteen, I sailed for country and Queen,
Voyaging by Royal Decree.

By Royal Decree,
Royal Decree,
I dreamt of adventure with glee.

With adventures a-plenty, I had seen the world by twenty
Causing Landlubbers jealousy.
And I was not caught with a girl in every port
Never brought down upon one knee.

Upon one knee,
Never on one knee,
Causing Landlubbers jealousy.

Now wherever I roam I can call it my home
But I know it's only temporary.

As my mistress the ocean has provoked every emotion,
She will always be the one for me.

The one for me,
She's the one for me
But I know it's only temporary.
